For the Committee, Curtiss Hoffman, Chair

CALL FOR RESEARCH GRANT PROPOSALS TO BE POSTED MID AUGUST WITH A DEADLINE OF OCTOBER 15, 2021
We are pleased to announce that, thanks to a grant from an anonymous donor which is being matched by the IASD Board of Trustees, IASD is able to offer full-time graduate and undergraduate students the opportunity to compete for two (2) $500 awards for the best student papers in the field of dream investigation in 2021-2022: one for quantitative research; one for qualitative research including history, literature, theory, and the creative arts. The award is named in honor of the late Dr. Ernest Hartmann, a pioneer in dream research and the originator of the program.

2021 IASD Annual Virtual Conference Wrap-Up

Bob Hoss, Conference Committee Chair

On January 15, 2021, in the midst of the largest COVID-19 peak in the USA, IASD realized that the risk was too great for an onsite conference and agreed that we would have to hold the conference virtually. Since all presentations had been received, Keynotes confirmed and other events planned by that point, we decided to hold the entire 5-day multitrack conference via Zoom. By the end of January, the agreement was made with the Ashland Hills Hotel and Suites to postpone that venue until 2023, and the web site was completely updated to plan for an all-virtual conference.

We were able to schedule everything into the virtual conference, yet shorten the days somewhat. We could allow for 30-minute breaks and schedule non-North American presenters in morning and evening slots (depending on country) so that they could present at more reasonable local times.

Conference Director, Bob Hoss, managed and co-hosted the conference with seven volunteer “Track Hosts,” who coordinated the Zoom activity for the five daily tracks: Michelle Carr, Scott and Julie Sparrow, Bhaskar Banerji, Geoff Nelson and Harry de Bont. Bob Krumhansl was backup Track Host as well as managing the zoom activity for the Dream Ball, Telepathy contest and Cynnie Pearson and Robert Waggoner pulled together the always intriguing Dream Telepathy Contest. Walter Berry managed a virtual version of the traditional Costume Parade and Dream Ball. Although everyone was in his or her own space for the Ball, attendees still created physical or even virtual costumes and joined in the fun. One interesting value of Zoom was that each costume and persona was front and center on everyone’s screen. Finally, there was an hour of dancing to Ed
Dream Art Exhibition

From Kim Vergil, Visual Arts Committee Chair

How wonderful that we all pulled off an amazing Virtual Conference and interactive Dream Art Exhibition during these extraordinary times. Nothing can replace the special times we have all shared as fellow dreamers at the in-person conferences... but we were able to see each other and interact, share and learn. I personally have been enjoying being able to go back and see all the presentations afterwards. As for the virtual Dream Art Exhibition, we were thrilled to have 48 artists from around the world apply, and 138 artworks were accepted.

This remained a juried show, the difference being that it was the Visual Arts Committee Team who did the jurying. We accepted painting, sculpture, drawing, video, and music video, all inspired by the dreams of artists.

We decided to give the Dream Art Awards but without cash awards (as we were unable to see the original pieces).

The winner was: Susan Vasiljevic

Honorable mentions: Veronica Coetzter, Denise Luther, Nataraj Saraf

By the magic of the internet we were also able to continue our People’s Choice Awards online. Thank you for all who took the time to select your favorite artist for The Vote.

The winner was: Susan Vasiljevic

We also hosted a Dream Artist Panel with 12 artists from the exhibition who were gracious enough to share with us about their creative process and how it was connected to their dreams. What an informative and personal perspective we
Here are this year's winners:
1. Denise Kester
2. Susan Vasiljevic
3. Amy Lloyd

All learned from each artist.

Board News - Election Results

Your Nominating Committee Chair, Michelle Carr

Before announcing this year's incoming Officers, I would like to express deep gratitude for our outgoing President, Angel Morgan, who has led our organization through incredible trials over the past two years with grace and strength. First, Angel helped IASD adapt to the COVID-19 pandemic, finding ways to support our membership remotely and reassuringly, even while in-person events were cancelled. Second, Angel established the Diversity Task Force Advisory Committee, the DAC, with an extraordinary team who are helping our organization to grow and to become more diverse, equitable, and inclusive. Gratefully, Angel is continuing to serve on the Executive Committee this year, as an indispensable and intuitive advisor. Thank you, Angel!

I would also like to thank two outgoing Officers: Board Chair, Anna-Karin Björklund and Secretary, Bob Krumansl. It has been a privilege and a pleasure to serve with both of you on the Executive Committee for the past two years. Thank you both for your unique insight, continued commitment, and generous spirit!

Finally, it is my pleasure to announce and congratulate the five individuals whom our members voted to elect as IASD Board Directors this year, and whose three-year terms began at the June 2021 Board meeting: Jordi Borràs García, Jean Campbell, Remington Mallett, Angel Morgan, and Kimberly Mascaro. I would also like to extend a big thank you to those Board Directors who finished their three-year terms this summer: Athena Kolinski and Clare Johnson.

In addition to member-elected Board Directors, this year we have several individuals who were asked to fill Board-appointed positions to serve key leadership roles in our organization: Maureen Boyd Biro as Board Chair; Leslie Ellis as IASD Vice-President; and Kelly Lydick as Secretary. Myself (Michelle Carr) and Robert Waggoner are also filling Board-appointed positions to continue serving on the Executive Committee this year, as President and Treasurer, respectively.

On behalf of the IASD Nominating Committee, I would like to express appreciation for all of the retiring IASD Board Directors and Officers, and for the incoming Directors and Officers for 2021.

Report of the 2021 Student Research Awards Committee

Curtiss Hoffman, Student Research Awards Committee Chair

The committee (Ann Bengtsson, Mark Blagrove, Deirdre Barrett, Curtiss Hoffman, Tracy Kahan, Bernard Welt) received only two submissions this year, both in the quantitative category.

After reviewing these submissions and discussing them, we decided to give only one award for 2021, to: Claudia Picard-Deland, for “Targeted memory reactivation has a sleep stage-specific delayed effect on dream content.”

We also decided to award an Honorable Mention to Courtney Bolstad, for “Factor Analysis and Validation of the Disturbing Dreams and Nightmare Severity Index.”
These results were reported at the Membership Meeting. Both of the submitters attended the conference.

Once again, we strongly encourage graduate or undergraduate students to submit papers to the Committee for deliberation for the 2022 Hartmann Student Research Award. The submissions deadline will be March 1, 2022.

The online course committee (OCC) offers online courses on various aspects of dreams and dreaming to those IASD members and non-members who would like to take these as part of an independent study program. The initial offerings are the foundation series courses titled The Science and Psychology of Dreaming and The Science of Lucid Dreaming. While these courses are offered as part of the IASD Dream Study Groups Program, the OCC is responding to requests to also offer them as stand-alone independent study courses, which should appeal to those who prefer to take courses on their own. The Science and Psychology of Dreaming course is a mini-tutorial which covers:

- The Basics
- The Psychology
- Exceptional Dream Experiences

The course is taught by Robert Hoss, who chairs our research grant committee, and is co-editor of IASD’s book Dreams: Understanding the Biology, Psychology and Culture from which much of the course is derived. It is designed for anyone interested in a summary of some of the theories and research findings related to our basic understanding of dreaming. Although there is much still being researched about the nature of dreaming, this course offers a snapshot of some of the general practices, recent research and theoretical thinking.

The Science of Lucid Dreaming course covers the history of the first scientific evidence that lucid dreaming is a valid and distinct state of dreaming, and then surveys cutting-edge findings in the field. The course is taught by Robert Waggoner, an internationally known lucid dream pioneer and author of Lucid Dreaming. It is based on his presentation at the 2018 IASD Conference in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Regional News You Can Use

Michelle Carr and Jeanne van Bronkhorst, Co-Chairs of the IASD Regional Events Committee

The Regional Representatives got together at the annual IASD conference for an evening reception of easy talk about our lives and work, and some of the hopes we have for IASD. It was a planned unstructured time, and it helped deepen our connections with each other. I gained new appreciation for so many creative approaches to dreams and dreamwork that our Regional Reps use. Thank you to all who joined the conversation.

The Regional Events Committee continues to shine light on the impressive work and lives of IASD’s Regional Representatives. Misa Tsuruta, MA, PhD, is a graduate from the New School for Social Research and a psychotherapist / psychologist and writer in Tokyo, Japan. While exploring psychotherapy, she realized that dreams were an important part of therapeutic processes and personal growth. She joined IASD in 2004 and her first conference was that year in Copenhagen. Since then, she has participated in many international and regional conferences, often presenting on dreams and Japanese culture, among other topics.

Misa is a Regional Representative “At Large” for the Asia/Pacific region and was invited to join the Diversity Advisory Committee last fall. She also agreed to become one of the BIPOC co-chairs of the Membership Committee. She would like to help IASD become a more diverse and dynamic organization, and more truly “I”ASD.

If you are looking for a way to be more involved in the life of IASD, becoming a Regional Rep is a good first step. Contact Jeanne at vanjvb@gmail.com.

Covid-19 and Dreams Portal | Popular Addition to the IASD Website

At this time, there are many people around the globe reporting “COVID-19 dreams” which reflect the unexpected situation in which we all find ourselves. Esteemed IASD members have been contributing interviews, articles and research on dreams during the pandemic, which we have collected to create a page on the IASD website. Dreamers have been finding this compilation of information to be useful. Updates are made on a regular basis. Craig Webb's Short Film Gets International Recognition

Craig Webb experienced an interesting dream that led to a fresh genre of photographic art. He created a video describing the dream and presenting some of the colorful art inspired by it, and included in the soundtrack music clips recorded as he heard them in dreams. The short film, “Treasure in a Bottle,” has had the good fortune to be an official selection, semi-finalist/finalist/award nominee in over a dozen film festivals, and has aired on over 175 TV stations across Indonesia, Italy, and online. He is grateful that his artistic creation was accepted for IASD's 2021 virtual conference art exhibition where it can still be viewed.

Craig has also had the honor to offer invited recent presentations and performances on music, dreams, lucid dreaming, and his book Behind the Music in Hong Kong, on BBC, and for various other media, schools, and online shows.

In this issue Hot Off the Press focuses on dream in utero. This column publishes links to evidence-based scientific articles on dreams that are written for a non-research audience.
NEW YALE STUDY SUGGESTS MAMMALS MIGHT DREAM ABOUT THE WORLD BEFORE THEY ARE EVEN BORN

As a newborn mammal opens its eyes for the first time, it can already make visual sense of the world around it. But how does this happen before they have experienced sight? A new Yale study suggests that, in a sense, mammals dream about the world they are about to experience before they are even born.

BABY’S FIRST DREAMS: SLEEP CYCLES OF THE FETUS

After about seven months growing in the womb, a human fetus spends most of its time asleep. Its brain cycles back and forth between the frenzied activity of rapid eye movement (REM) sleep and the quiet resting state of non-REM sleep. But whether the brains of younger, immature fetuses cycle with sleep or are simply inactive has remained a mystery, until now.
